

With over a decade of experience in the BIM/Drafting industry, Kevin is a highly skilled and passionate professional, specializing in AutoCAD, Revit and Navisworks. After graduating from Porter Chester Institute, where he honed his expertise in architectural and engineering drafting, Kevin began his career at IES, a well-established engineering firm. His talent, dedication, and exceptional work ethic quickly earned him a reputation for excellence within the firm.

In addition to his full-time role, Kevin is a sought-after freelancer, collaborating with project managers and engineers on various projects. His ability to seamlessly manage multiple tasks while maintaining high-quality results sets him apart in the industry. Known for his responsibility, quick turnaround, and serious approach to his work, Kevin ensures every project is executed efficiently, no matter the scope or complexity.

Kevin's passion for drafting goes beyond his professional accomplishments – it is embedded in his daily work, where precision and attention to detail are his top priorities. His versatility in AutoCAD and Revit makes him an invaluable asset to both his firm and freelance clients. Always striving to improve and expand his knowledge, Kevin remains at the forefront of his craft, delivering detailed design solutions, creating, coordinating, and maintaining 3D models, ensuring adherence to project specifications, and enhancing project efficiency and communication.

While his career is thriving, Kevin's top priority outside of work is his family. He is dedicated to supporting his younger siblings and his mother, making sure they have the guidance and resources they need to succeed. His strong sense of responsibility toward his loved ones fuels his determination and work ethic, ensuring that he remains focused on both his professional goals and family commitments.

Outside of his professional life, Kevin enjoys a variety of hobbies that help him unwind and express his creativity. He has a deep love for music, which provides a therapeutic escape and fuels his creative mind. Additionally, Kevin is an avid movie enthusiast, always ready to dive into a captivating film. His artistic side is also expressed through oil painting, a hobby he finds both relaxing and rewarding, allowing him to explore his imagination.

With an unwavering commitment to excellence, innovation, and collaboration, Kevin continues to be a trusted leader in the BIM/Drafting industry, ensuring that every project he contributes to is built on accuracy, efficiency, and expert craftsmanship.
